

Patrolman Marsi Hospitalized after Accident

Patrolman James Marsi of the Wilmington Police is still in the Choate Memorial Hospital in Woburn, after suffering injuries in an automobile crash on Main Street last Thursday evening. The crash occurred at the corner of Main Street and Cross Street at 11:55 pm.

Also injured in the crash was Patrolman Fred Ward of Fitz Terrace. Ward was released by the hospital the next day, with rib injuries, and bruises on the head and face.

Marsi suffered a dislocated elbow, fractured wrist, broken nose, and lacerations about his face. Nineteen stitches were taken about his nose. He was the operator of the Police Buic (car 31) at the time of the accident. Both cars were a total loss. The police cruiser was taken to the town garage, and the other car to Cain's Garage.

The police cruiser, according to Marsi, was heading north on Main St. at the time of the accident. Marsi said that the other car pulled out of Ceoss Street in front of him.

Miss Lee Ward of 4 Florence Road Burlington, operator of the other car told the police that she was out on Route 38 (Main Street) and she saw the other car lights, and that is all she remembers.

With Miss Ward was her mother, Mrs Priscilla Ward. The car was owned by her father.

Lions Club Bulb, Broom & Towel

On September 27, the Lions will be knocking on your doors. This is the time when every Lion will walk the streets of Wilmington and approach all of you to purchase light bulbs, brooms or towels. Once again, the selection of bulbs will please everyone. Every $2.00 package will contain 60,75, and 100 watt bulbs that have been manufactured by a reputable firm.

If you feel that there are enough bulbs in your home, the Lions will have available for purchase an excellent broom. Every purchase will fulfill a worthwhile purpose: You will help the Blind, who made the brooms and you will help the Lions to raise money to help the Blind through Research and directly. The broom is a product of the Division of the Blind of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. The brooms will sell for $2.00. The lions added towels last year. This package sells for $2.00.

During the drive last year, many people set aside the money to greet the Lion as he approached their doors. The Lions sincerely hope this warm reception will take place this year.

There is a great need in Wilmington for needy blind cases and projects, but the Drives will have to be much more lucrative for the Wilmington Club to succeed with their aims.

Should you be able to use these products before the drive, call any Lion and he will be happy to deliver.

CAUTION: Persons who do not participate as Lions may knock on doors or call by phone in advance of the Lions Drive and sell bulbs. They are not Lions. Please ask for Positive Identification, if anyone knocks on your door, or calls by phone prior to Sept 27, or any time. Sight Conservation Week - Lions Club of Wilmington - Buy Bulbs, Brooms, or Towels - to save the sight of those in need.

PAULA BAKER AT MALDEN HOSPITAL

Mrs Paula Cone Baker, the wife of Mr Edward Baker of 72 Mountain Avenue in Malden, and a graduate of Wilmington High School is currently a second year student at Malden Hospital School of Nursing and is pursuing the course of Psychiatric Nursing at New Hampshire School of Nursing in Concord, New Hampshire.

THE FRED ROBERTS ESTATE: On Burlington Avenue is popularly supposed to be the number one choice of a site for a new High School, by the School Committee, and is also believed to be the subject of a Special Town Meeting which has been requested of the Board of Selectmen by the School Committee.

But no such question has as yet been propounded to the Selectmen by the School Committee, and the Permanent Building Committee has as yet to make up its mind.

The Roberts estate abuts the properties of the Boutwell and West Intermediate Schools (solid black) and may possibly be connected by Grand Street or Nassau Avenue to Shawsheen Avenue, with both streets going over Kelly's Hill plus other more rugged terrain.

Professor Elliot, consultant to the Wilmington Planning Board, considers a Woburn Street farm as being the best site for a new high school, if a new school is to be built. The Roberts estate takes Number Two place in his thinking, partly because of the expense of building connecting roads to Shawsheen Avenue, etc., and partly for other reasons.

The Roberts estate, meanwhile, has been acquired by two Lowell attorneys, who have filed plans with the Planning Board for a housing development on the property.

FIRES IN TOWN

The home of Robert Palino at 883 Main Street has been the scene of two fires of suspicious origin this week. Both are under investigation.

The first fire was discovered by Officer John Markey about 3:30 am on Monday while he was on a routine patrol. Smelling wood smoke, Officer Markey began checking house by house until he located the fire on the back porch of the Palino home.

The fire department was summoned and quickly extinguished the small fire which caused minor damage to the house.

The second fire again reported by Officer Markey was on Wednesday morning. When the officer arrived, he found Palino had already put the fire out, this time in the sofa on the back porch.

Mr and Mrs Palino and their two children reside in the house.

School Committee opposes change in Milk Program

The Wilmington School Committee and Administration sent a letter to the members of the House of Representatives and Senate opposing the proposed dropping of the Special Milk Program.

The letter has come as a result of several Communications sent to all School Systems in the State from the office of John Stalker, Director of the Bureau of Nutrition Education and School Food Services for the Mass Department of Education.

The communication from Stalker stated that Congress has enacted legislation to make permanent the Special Milk Program and to appropriate adequate funds for it. It went on to state that President Nixon has indicated he will not operate the program as the Congress has directed.

A second letter was then received for the State Department of Education on September 8, which indicated the U S Department of Agriculture had given permission for school systems to operate the milk program under a 'continuing resolution' until Oct 15.

As a result of this possible change in the milk program, with the resulting increase in price to the student the School Committee and Administration has sent letters to Senator Edward F Kennedy, Representative Brad Morse, President Nixon, and Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M Hardin opposing the change.

The letter reads 'Please be advised that the Wilmington School Committee and Administration opposes the decision of the President, regarding the School Milk Program and urges your support in seeing to it that at its important program is restored.'

To date, one answer has been received. The letter came from the office of Brad Morse stating that Mr Morse shares the concern of the School Committee and Administration on the Special Milk Program.

On the first day of school in Wilmington, there had been some confusion over the price of milk. Some communication had been sent out that the milk for those beginning their lunches would be eight cents in the future. This price was quoted as the result of the first letter from the State Department of Education.

Temporarily then, students providing their own lunches and purchasing milk will pay three cents. The hot lunch program will stay at 30 cents with milk and dessert included.

Walter Pierce, Superintendent of Schools, told the Town Crier that whatever changes occur, the Department will notify the public.

There is no guarantee at present that the Special Milk Program will be operated after October 15.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

Newly-elected President of the Wilmington Teachers Association, Kay Barry, attended the School Committee Meeting last week at the Roman House. She attended as part of her duties in her new position.

Due to some changes to provide office space on the first floor of the Roman House, the Committee met in a newly-provided room on the second floor. Because the room is not finished, the acoustics are only fair. It is difficult to hear what the members of the Committee have to say.

Walter Pierce, Superintendent of Schools, reported to the Committee that the opening of the schools ran smoothly, including the bus runs. He told the Committee, that his office was now in the process of balancing enrollment. The Committee was given a table, showing where there presently is some imbalance in the lower grades and the enrollment of each class. Pierce explained that the administration would provide a better balance in the individual classes.

The total enrollment for grades One through twelve is 5054. The projected enrollment as explained by Piers in the open meeting at the West Intermediate School was 5042.

Pierce in his report to the Committee stated that plans had been made to hold a meeting for the Director of the Family Living Service and the Drug Committee to coordinate drug programs.

Part of his report to the School Committee was a discussion on the letters that had been sent in opposition to the proposed dropping of the School Milk Program.

Al Lanni commented on this recent development by stating it was too bad that money could be found for ABM's, but not school milk.

Walter McNamara, Acting Chairman for the meeting in the absence of John Brooks, presented a statement to the Committee. The printed statement explained his decision to support the school Committee to ask the Town for authorization to build a new High School.

McNamara had voted against this decision, but now feels that the time for effective disagreement has passed. His statement went on to thank the Committee for their willingness to re-explore the alternative program.

Diana Imbimbo, member of the Committee, told the School Committee that the first annual legislative report would be given to them in October, with her analysis of the legislation which affects education.

A change was made in the present procedure of approval of bills and payrolls.

A unanimous vote followed Al Lanni's motion to authorize Mrs Barbar Hooper Secretary of the School Committee to sign warrants on behalf of the Committee.

Under new business the School Committee heard a report from Derek Little, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, concerning a letter of intent sent to the Mass Department of Education for a Title III Project for Guided Self Analysis. Little felt the program of Guided Analysis could have an impact on education in this school system.

The open portion of the meeting ended at approximately 10:15 pm, when the Committee entered an executive session to discuss the Building Program.

The Committee for the Horribles Parade to be held on Halloween is meeting on Tuesday, September 29, 1970 at 7:30 pm at the Mildred Rogers School.

First of all, want-to tell you what a cute thing they are doing in the Shawsheen School...Happns that this Gal called for another reason and got tuned in by accident to a young Newscaster at 8:45 am on the PA there and when we asked the small fry at the Hut about it...they said one sixth-grader does it each morning...Great idea...and informative also.

At the No Wil Ph at lunch on on Tuesday, the Ray Fitzmaurice was standing patiently for the usual half-hour politely trying to pay for his lunch...while Doris was doing the usual line of gab...and Loretta was intrigued by the return of her cash register...Doris was making Bob Doucette a sandwich when with a fell swoop she took Ray's ten-dollar bill...and he meekly said...Hey Doris don't get that into the sandwich... Could be that those two are now cooking up a new kind of lettuce... How about that, Kids?

Now hear this...For Dice O'Neal, particularly composed by two of those instigators at North Wilmington Pharmacy:

Out upon the grassy green
Something happened that he had never seen.

After all the practicing, all in fun
He finally made his Hole in One.
Now they know you can hit them far Dice...It's your turn to set up the Pharmacy Bar.

Now, You Chick...Me thinks that the cadence isn't too cool...but the thoughts are great...and Dice, this Gal wants to be there...don't you dare set it up without me.

When is that Scott Waugh's Band gonna let us in on the Music...Seems like the Russells and the Inhabitants of the Cemetery get to hear it...but we all would like to...Whatta ya say Scott.

INSURANCE INSIGHTS

By Lloyd Bender

If you are in business, the chances are that a substantial part of your assets take the form of accounts receivable. What would happen to you if these were destroyed?

You can rest more easily if they are covered by inland marine insurance protection. This policy does not cover the value of the records themselves, but the amount of money which you would not be able to prove was due you if they were destroyed.

Excluded from the coverage is the usual war damage, plus loss from dishonest or fraudulent acts by an officer of the company, including directors.

Included in the policy is a method for computing the probable loss in case the records are destroyed completely. Rates are less if duplicate records are kept elsewhere, and they generally run about half that for actual goods.

Rep. Cain petitions for bridge in Wilmington

FROM THE SUN'S STATE HOUSE BUREAU
STATE HOUSE—Rep. Fred F. Cain has petitioned the State Department of Public Works to replace an old, low bridge crossing the oBston and Main Railroad tracks at Shawsheen Avenue and Main Street (Route 129) in Wilmington.

The Wilmington legislator, in a communication to Charles E. Whitcomb, director of transportation planning and development, states the old bridge has been scheduled for replacement for several years, but this has been impossible because the road and railroad tracks are so close that no space is allowed for building up to the new heights required on bridges. Thus, the bridge eventually will have to be replaced, said Cain.

He suggested that the DPW study the feasibility of relocating Route 129 along Main Street to the next street, Bridge Lane, and building a new structure across the tracks at this location.

Town and state officials meet on Shawsheen bridge

WILMINGTON—A meeting of Wilmington officials and state and county officials about the problems of Wilmington's bridges was definitely scheduled for this morning at Room 1074 of the Department of Public Works building at Boston through the efforts of Rep. Fred Cain in trying to resolve several problems that have risen as a result of damage to the Shawsheen Avenue Bridge. The meeting was set for 9 a.m.

Also under discussion would be the funds allotted for the Nichols Street Bridge which is said to be constructed within the next year. Wilmington officials include the town manager, selectmen with Charles Whitcomb, chief engineer of the state DPW; Mr. Byod, engineering head of bridges, Boston and Maine Railroad; Roger Hilton, engineering head of Middlesex County from the County Commissioners office and Mr. Wall, executive officer of the Bureau of Accounts.

The promise was made by Rep. Cain Monday night at a meeting of the board of selectmen when he said he would set up a meeting with the various officials to resolve what to do with the damaged Shawsheen Avenue Bridge. Cused the bride with suggestions as to a four-lane bridge. It is now, or was, a two-lane, tight bridge. One of the reasons for the meeting this morning was to peruse the bridge accounts as they are shown in Wilmington's favor for Nichols Street.

Safety of school children cited

Wilmington OK's new bridge

By ANTHONY GALINIS

WILMINGTON—Wilmington voters at Saturday night's town meeting session appropriated $100,000 for relocation of the Shawsheen Avenue Bridge over the Boston and Maine Railroad. A $97,000 bond would be issued with $3000 to be raised under taxation.

School buses have not been able to use the bridge since it collapsed last fall. Safety of school children would be concerned if the relocation was not voted.

On a vote of 445 yes to 1 solitary negative, the meeting favored Rep. Cain's lengthy presentation for the bridge which will be located on Main St. near Wissner St.

CHAIRMAN George Boylen, of the board of selectmen, introduced Article 29. Cain said that the bridge would cost $300,000 with the monies allocated to the "Wilmington Bridge Fund." The $100,000, he said, was needed to initiated the bridge relocation project.

There would be a reasonable landtaking, he added. Selectman James Miceli asked Cain about reimbursement for the bridge. Cain said he was "pretty sure" that the town would be reimbursed and talked about the Nichols Street Bridge, a similar case.

ONLY ONE speaker, William Fay, newly-elected school committee chairman, spoke about the safety of school children and of the damages which could result if a better bridge were not built. The school bus now uses the Bridge Lane Bridge.

Praising the article in short talks were Harold McKelvey, Wilson Belbin, John Godzyk and Dan Gillis.

New Bridge Hearing next Wednesday

The State Department of Public Works will conduct a hearing next Wednesday, in the Memorial Library on the new bridge, proposed by Rep. Fred F. Cain, over the railroad, to replace the present Shawsheen Ave. Bridge. The hearing is to start at 8 pm., and will consider the bridge and that part of Route 129 which is now part of Shawsheen Avenue.

The bridge is proposed to go from the Eames Farm to Richmond Street, and will mean that a part of Brand Avenue will be cut off from the rest of that street.

No information is being given out before the hearing, but plans will be on display in the library starting at 2 pm to 5 pm., and again from 7 pm to 8 pm.

This is to be the first hearing on the bridge. There is to be a second state hearing, at a later date, on the same bridge.

Another hearing, having to do with Route 129, but not the Shawsheen Ave bridge, is to be held sometime later in August by the Commissioners of Middlesex County.

This hearing will concern itself on the proposed route for the "Route 129 Cut-off" also proposed by Rep. Cain.

Minute Men Battle

Another Battle Streamer for the Minute Men of Wilmington.

The State of Rhode Island held a recreation of the Battle of Rhode Island originally fought at Tiverton on August 27, 1778.

The Wilmington Minute Men had people camped out the night before the Battle, which was refought on August 29. This time they stayed in a comfortable motel with all the conveniences.

The formal festivities started at 10 am with a two mile parade, in which the Wilmington Company of Minute Men were very warmly received as they marched along the route, firing their trusty muskets.

After the parade, they were treated to a Colonial Feast, and then marched to a hill beside Fort Barton. A British Gunboat, The HMS Rose hove to in Narragansett Bay, and a duel took place, between the vessel and the Fort, manned by the Newport Artillery Company. Under cover of the Man of War's guns, a contingent of British Marines landed.

They were immediately engaged by a group of Connecticut Rangers, and held in check until the Colonial Army including the Wilmington contingent, rushed down the hill to engage the Marines in a firefight and eventually push them back to their boats. The victors paraded around the 'battle field' under the cheers of the thousands of onlookers and then were treated to a fife and drum jam session, consisting of various colonial groups attending.

The Company then passed in review before the Governor of Rhode Island and were presented their battle streamers.

In addition, each participant received a beautiful victory medal to wear on his uniform at social events. Its considered opinion of the Minute Men that 'Little Rhody' really puts on a festival worthy of the largest state.

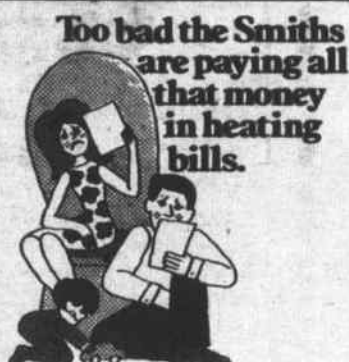

The good time enjoyed by all did a lot to alleviate the disappointment of being rained out as Honor Guard at Concord Bridge on August 23. However, they will get another chance in October. The date will be announced, so plan to go over to the Bridge and see them work, guaranteed you'll be entertained, and feel quite proud as the U S Ranger tells of Wilmington's First.

With all this battle experience under their three-cornered hats, the Minute Men feel maybe they can hold Bunker Hill against the British next year.

After age 65, physical problems become obvious and are easily faced.

First of all, if a person has reached age 65, he must have started with a fairly good, healthy constitution and maintained it.

Now his fairly good, healthy state must be maintained if possible.

Your doctor is of utmost importance in this regard, for he must know his patient and the strengths and weaknesses of his background. A family physician is in the best position to advise a life style in keeping with advancing years.

Don't wait until an emergency arises. Choose a physician early and carefully. Make sure he is someone you can trust.

Never try to be your own doctor: after sixty-five is no time to begin taking chances.

Eddie Neilson was Wilmington's Best Pitcher

There have been many men born in Wilmington who excelled in one or more ways - some in sports, some in business, some in the art of living.

Eddie Neilson, who was buried from the Congregational Church on Monday was one of those who excelled in many ways - business and sports included. He was the president of one of the larger whole sale grocery firms in New England, and of the associations in which that firm played a part. He most certainly was one of the more successful sons of Wilmington.

And he was a star in the sports world too, and was one of two Wilmington persons to have been awarded the Carnegie Medal, for heroism.

Eddie was, of course, one of the Neilsons of Wilmington, the first male of that group to have been born in the United States. He was born in East Woburn, the son of Christian and Anna (Madsen) Neilson, and very shortly thereafter the family was living on Chestnut Street in Wilmington, in a building which is now the home of Dean Swan, and which is still referred to by the Neilsons as 'the old Farm'. Eddie grew up on Chestnut Street, and when the South School was rebuilt after a fire, back about the turn of the century, Eddie became the janitor, for some such sum of money as fifty cents a week.

A few years before World War I a farm in the Silver Lake area was offered for sale. Eddie heard of it, and persuaded his parents to buy it. That purchase was the beginning of the long tale of the Neilsons of Wilmington, a tale which grows larger in scope with the passing years.

Eddie Neilson was the most succes-ful of the family. The farm which he persuaded his father and mother to buy became a summer boarding house and the farm supplied fresh vegetables and milk to the summer people of Silver Lake.

One of those summer boarders was a Mr. Webster, of a grocery firm known as Webster - Thomas. Mr. Webster thought that Eddie was a hard working boy, and offered him a job in his Boston office.

The old tale has it that Mr. Webster had a daughter, and thought that Eddie might make a nice son-in-law, - but that's a part of tradition, of the past. Eddie, in any event, had his eyes on a Wilmington girl, Miss Mildred Buck.

This is not to tell the tale of how Eddie prospered as a wholesale grocer in Boston. Suffice it to say he did, and that long before Birdseye Frozen Foods became a household word, (for instance), Eddie and Clarence Birdseye were on a first name basis.

Eddie built up that firm, of which he became the president, to be one of New England's largest and most prestigious, and Webster Thomas foods were to be found in nearly every good grocery store in New England.

Yes, he was a star in the business world.

And, yes, he was a star in the sports world, too.

Eddie, it is believed, is the first Wilmington man to have turned down the possibility of a baseball career. The Southern League, back in 1909, was one of the big three in the U.S. and it offered Eddie a pitchers berth. Eddie turned it down.

But he won that offer honestly. He was probably The Outstanding Baseball Pitcher of New England, in that day and time.

He was the star pitcher in the Wilmington High School team, back in the days when what is now the Centre School was the High School of Wilmington. Such old timers as Rodney Buck and Harold Melzar can attest to that.

And, after graduation, Eddie was a member of the Silver Lake Baseball Team, which had its own home field and stadium, off Cottage Street, near Silver Lake.

It was an extraordinary team. All the boys came from Silver Lake, and they travelled all over Eastern Massachusetts by streetcar, for nearly three years, defeating every team they met.

Not once, in two years, was the Silver Lake Baseball team defeated.

Eddie Neilson was the pitcher, and he was adept at putting the ball where the bat wasn't. It was very few players who ever collected a hit off Eddie Neilson.

Today the kind of ball that he pitched is outlawed, but in those days it was perfectly legal for the pitcher to throw a 'spitball'. And, Eddie Neilson was one of the best in that ancient art. He could make a ball drop a foot, as it got to the plate, with no trouble at all.

He was, without a doubt, the best pitcher from Wilmington to ever put a legal spitball across the plate.

LAST THURSDAY WAS HONEY MUSHROOM DAY

The Armillaria mellea is to be described as an eminently edible fungus, which appears in September or October, after a heavy rain and a warm night. It is a scrawney looking thing, but to those who know it it is delight itself. There are two nicknames - the Shoestring Mushroom, for some reason unknown to the writer, and the Honey Mushroom. Oen just has to have a little Armillaria mellea to understand the last name for it is one of the most delectable morsels to be found on the face of the earth.

Some also call it The Stump Mushroom, but this is not truly an accurate name. It is a stump mushroom, and will grow profusely sometimes on old stumps of oak trees, but it will also grow in trash piles (oak, of course) and from long dead oak roots hidden in the ground. On this account the name of Stump Mushroom is only partly accurate.

How many people know of the Honey Mushroom. One in a thousand is perhaps a large figure, and that is only 1/10th of 1 percent. That figure seems to be large.

Last Thursday was Honey Mushroom Day - and the simple householder who had an idea he could just shuffle out into the area back of his home and collect a few mushrooms (if any so exist) was due for surprises.

Honey Mushrooms are collected at the Break of Dawn. Not that they have a better taste if picked at that time, but that if not picked at dawn someone else is going to come along and pick them.

The writer saw three cars on the one mile stretch of Route 125, between Andover Street and the North Reading line, at dawn last Thursday. From each a man had gone into the woods, basket on his arm.

There were two cars parked in the short 'new' Route 162, where it crosses Route 93.

And Rocco DePasquale 'Gramps' De Pasquale, of the Rocco's Restaurant - He had arrived home, from Italy, at 10 pm the night before - his fourth and probably last trip back home to the 'old country'. That didn't keep Rocco from being out at the crack of dawn, gathering his share of the 'Honey Mushroom'.

EDDIE NEILSON AND TEAMMATES: The Silver Lake Baseball team, in a photograph taken in front of their grandstand, in 1908, in the days when the team defeated all comers for two years.

Eddie, who was the pitcher, and a spitball pitcher of extraordinary ability, is at upper left. Beside him is the man who became his brother in Law, Ray Howe of Grove Avenue, and in front (lower left) is Harold Melzar of Lake Street, who became, among other things, Town Manager of Wilmington. Harold played shortstop, a position which has been held by many subsequent Melzars in Wilmington.

Letter

Dear Larz,
My letter will be lengthy, but there's much to be said in regard to Play-school. Many dedicated people made this ambitious project take form.
Wilmington is a very warm, responsive town and it has been uplifting to experience such sincere concern.
Nancy Clark launched our beginnings in her column and secured the generous donation of a typewriter. Ken Zucker provided informative booklets and advice. Penny Bornstein at Wilmington Memorial Library developed a storybook list for our use. The Board of Education offered us counsel. The United Methodist Church St Thomas of Villanova, and the Congregational Church opened its doors to us. And you, editor Neilson, allowed us to publicize our intentions and aims in your newspaper.
Much more support encompassed our efforts than can be expressed here, but we feel deep gratitude to every individual who graciously and quietly extended a helping hand.
It is time to reveal to the Wilmington Citizenry that the amazing dedicated leaders who are putting heart and soul into this endeavor are Lynn Allard, Jean Ballarino, Pauline Carlson, Sandra Cosman, Roberta Davis, Janet Dewire, Joan Foresteire Beverly Fuller, Barbara Larson, Marge Lux, Cynthia McCue, Sophie Parella, Lorraine Pellerin, Marcie Qunadt, Geri Santos, Mary Smith, and Mitzi Wolff.
Mrs. Cosman has also volunteered her secretarial abilities. This group has produced a sensible, flexible program and has overcome seemingly insurmountable obstacles.
Perhaps most astounding of all is the donation of their time. No one receives any salary; this is purely voluntary.
It has been a beautiful experience
Sincerely,
Mrs Harleen P. Putnam

High School Sports Soccer Opens Today

SOCCER OPENS TODAY

The high school varsity soccer team opens its 1970 season, this afternoon with a league encounter at Danvers. Coach Lentine's eleven will participate in the Southern Division of the North Shore Soccer League this fall.

Among the thirty-five boys out for the team are fifteen from a year ago. Included in the returnees are seven lettermen, Ralph Decker, a sophomore, who will move into the goal; seniors Lance Platt, Tom Beaton, Hal Stewart, Harry Latta, and John Lippiello; and junior Frank Simmons.

Moving up to possible starting positions, along with the above mentioned, are juniors Rich Lipski, Marcel Deveau, and John Conlin, and sophomores Mark Nelson and Jason Platt. The varsity scrimmaged Acton-

Boxboro last Saturday morning and came out on top 1-0 in a very impressive workout.

By Roger

Old paper and oily cloths are likely materials for fire to start by spontaneous combustion, if piled in a confined storage space in closets, attics, or basements. In addition, inflammable paint solvents, paints themselves, and cleaning solvents are usually kept in household storage places.

These would be safer, if kept away from the house in a separate shed or in a well-ventilated cabinet.

Papers and oil cloths should be burned, but if they must be kept, they should be placed in tightly closed metal cans.

Make a thorough check and eliminate these hazards.

Everyone should make a thorough check of their homes periodically not only to eliminate these types of hazards, but also to look for other kinds of problems and catch them before they become dangerous.

Flag Football

The Recreational Adult Flag Football Season got underway last Thursday night with the Miceli Club drubbing Sweetheart 43-0. Quarterback Billy Walls paced the winners in the seasonal opener tossing 5 touchdowns passes and throwing for a total of 185 yards in the game. Jim Cushing and Bob McNabb caught 5 passes each to aid the winners.

Monday night, Plaza Merchants outscored Charles River 50-39 in the opener for both clubs. For Plaza, quarterback Len Gustus gained 190 yards passing and 146 yards rushing. Bill Harrison caught seven passes for 106 yards and two touchdowns and was outstanding on defense with eight tackles. Bruce Arnold turned in an excellent performance in defeat accounting for 229 yards passing and 122 yards rushing. The Charles River quarterback also ran for a pair of TD's.

Charles River bounced back on Tuesday night to hand Sweetheart its second loss, 55-13. Gene Manley highlighted the win with a run back of an early kickoff following a Sweetheart score and after the tying touchdown the Lab poured it on.

Upcoming games at Town Park:
Tonight: Plaza vs Miceli at 8 pm
Tuesday: Sweetheart vs Plaza at 8 pm.

Youth Hockey is Growing

Over 450 boys have registered to date in the Youth Hockey Program and some 275 of these boys in the 6-12 age group showed up at the Billerica Forum last Saturday morning. To accommodate this overwhelming response, the directors have contracted for ice time in Melrose. Times to be announced shortly.

This season, there will be three bantam teams 13-14 year old boys - A, B, C along with a similar number of Pee Wee squads.

The Skating Club is presently in the process of refurbishing the Club on Chestnut Street, as well as putting all new oak boards on the rink and are doubling the lighting capacity.

Real Estate Corner

By Charles B. McAvaney

Taxes may often be deferred by
'like kind' of exchanges.Some property held for productive use or for investments in a business or trade may be exchanged free of taxes for 'like kind' of property.Owners of improved real estate and land use this kind of exchange frequently. It is a good device for tax-minimizing, especially when the seller would be reinvesting proceeds for the sale in another property.When such an exchange is arranged an increase in property value may be realized without incurring tax liability immediately.

The result is immediate reinvestment of the amount of increased value. The tax is deferred until later.WATCH NEXT WEEK FOR:
